

Fire and Fury: Are We on the Edge of War?

As Kim Jong Un and President Donald Trump's nuclear threats continue to escalate, Revelation In The News sees more than meets the eye.

In an interview with security expert Darren Parker, the co-hosts seek understanding on one of today's most hot-button issues.

"The whole reason why we're in this situation [with North Korea] is because of a softer approach," Parker tells co-host John Wooddall of previous policies toward the communist nation.

"This is why we're in a situation now where something has to be done, and it can't get any softer than that. I mean, we're in trouble," Parker says. "This has not happened overnight; this has been going for decades."
