

Francis Chan Issues Rare Warning to Churches About Pursuing Spiritual Gifts

In a recent sermon, Francis Chan told his church that he needed to issue a word of caution about pursuing the spiritual gifts. That's not to say they're not important or vital; in fact, Chan says he designed his church so that as many people as possible could operate in the gifts. Then he says God laid three questions on his heart. He goes over them in this moving message.