

Franklin Graham: Our Nation Will Have to Answer for This

A bombshell undercover video showing Planned Parenthood Federation of America Senior Director of Medical Services Dr. Deborah Nucatola talking about how the pro-abortion group sells the body parts of aborted fetuses over lunch has enraged even pro-choice advocates.

But Franklin Graham has had some of the strongest words yet. The evangelist first states what at least most Christians believe: abortion is a sin and is clearly murder in God's eyes. Then he makes it personal.

"The people who perform it have no conscience, so I'm not at all surprised that they would be selling organs, tissue and body parts from babies," Graham said. "Planned Parenthood should be put out of business—they've done enough damage."

Congress is now investigating the practices but the blood is still on our hands. And as Graham pointed out, sin has an enormous price.

"Our nation will one day have to answer to God for the millions of innocent lives taken by abortion, and that applies to every politician who voted for and defended abortion. Thankfully though, no sin is too great for God's forgiveness—even murder."
