

George Pataki Just Said This About 2016

Former New York Governor George Pataki told some supporters on Tuesday he would drop out of the race for the 2016 Republican presidential nomination, The Boston Globe reported.

A spokesman for Pataki, who ranked at the bottom of the Republican pack in a recent Reuters/Ipsos poll, did not respond to a request for comment. Pataki's campaign said in a statement that he would release a "special message" later on Tuesday but did not detail what he would say.
