

Guess Who the Duggars Just Endorsed for President?

He's pro-life and pro-God and, according to the Duggar family, harkens back to Ronald Reagan—that's why TV's largest family is supporting Mike Huckabee in the 2016 elections.

"Governor Huckabee is a man of faith who is very wise and will help get our nation back on track," 19 Kids and Counting's Michelle Duggar says.

Her husband, Jim Bob, concurs.

"America needs Governor Huckabee for president! Governor Huckabee has the communication skills of Ronald Reagan and a common sense business approach to government," Jim Bob Duggar says.

Huckabee has been standing up to the radical left agenda, calling them out for making efforts to criminalize Christianity.

And he isn't the only one: The Duggar's oldest son, Josh, agrees.

"Well, I think that right now in America there is an agenda to silence people of faith, those who hold a dissenting opinion," Josh Duggar says. "That's not what America was founded on. America was founded on respect, tolerance and really not discriminating against people based on their religious convictions."

The Duggars and Huckabee share something more than their convictions in common, though; they share their home state.

Looking to faith's other TV family, Willie and Korie Robertson of Duck Dynasty, state ties (and consequently close relationships) also play a major role in their vote for the next president.

"If he chooses to go on, I know the values he has ... He's got the values, he's got the intelligence to do it. I'd love to see him run," Willie Robertson says of Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal.
