

Help Male Prostitutes Find a Way Out

According to John Green, founder of Emmaus Ministries, 75 percent of male prostitutes claim to be heterosexual yet have mostly male clientele. Many of these men use drugs and alcohol to numb the pain of their situation----which often results in a vicious cycle of addiction fed by more prostitution. Watch the video below to discover how Green and other ministers help these sexually broken men break free.

{youtube}QZwXSj9rFBM{/youtube}