

Here's How You Can Watch the Caucus Returns Tonight

If you're looking forward to getting the results of tonight's Iowa Caucuses right away, or you want to get expert analysis of the final vote tallies, there is a dearth of sources you can turn to Monday night.

Local Sources

Some prefer to hear about it "from the horse's mouth," meaning in the case of the first-in-the-nation caucuses, getting the results and analysis from local television stations. Here are the links to the websites of the three Des Moines network affiliates with their own newsrooms:

KCCI-TV (CBS affiliate)

WHO-TV (NBC affiliate)

WOI-TV (ABC affiliate)

National Sources

Others may prefer to hear about the caucuses from their usual national sources. Here are the links to the websites of the leading national political news outlets:
