

How Jezebel Seeks to Destroy God-Ordained Gender Roles

Is there actually a “war” on gender?

It would certainly seem so, with headlines almost daily about gender confusion, distortion and dysphoria—and the forced acceptance of all.

For instance, in a new column for The American Conservative, where he is a regular contributor, author and national radio host Dr. Michael Brown discussed the recent NCAA women’s track national championship, where the winner of a hurdle race was a transgender woman who won handily against biological women.

“The question is not why a man identifies as a woman—or vice versa,” Brown wrote. “The question is this: Is it fair for a biological male to compete against biological females?”

Less than 18 months before this race, Brown noted, the transgender runner competed as a man and finished eighth in a field of nine. Interestingly, coverage about the race has been overwhelmingly positive toward the transgender runner, rarely taking into account the young ladies who came in second, third and fourth, despite training hard and running their best.

Brown writes in his soon-to-be-released book, Jezebel’s War with America: The Plot to Destroy Our Country and What We Can Do to Turn the Tide, that there is most decidedly a war on gender distinction.

“Today,” he writes, “gay activist curricula dominate our children’s schools, beginning with preschool, and drag queens read to toddlers in libraries. One of them admitted openly that they’re trying to ‘groom’ the children to think differently.

“Today, students have been expelled from universities and workers have been fired from their jobs for daring to differ with gay activist talking points. As I began warning in 2004, those who came out of the closet have wanted to put us in the closet. They have been incredibly successful in their actions.

“Today, in state after state, it is against the law for minors with unwanted same-sex attractions to get professional counseling, with the end goal being a ban on all professional counseling for people of all ages struggling with same-sex attractions.

“Today, elementary school children are encouraged to question their gender identity, and under President Obama, high schools would lose federal funding if they refused to allow 15-year-old boys who identified as girls to play on the girls’ sports teams and share their locker rooms.

“Today, Twitter will ban users who identify Caitlyn Jenner as Bruce or still refer to him as ‘he,’ and teachers have lost their jobs for refusing to refer to a biological male by a female name or pronoun, or vice versa. In New York City, you could be fined $250,000 for doing the same on your job.

“Today, as a committed Christian, you could even go to jail for refusing to issue a marriage license to a gay couple.”

At the root of LGBT activism is a war against gender distinctions, Brown said, with the ultimate goal that the male-female dichotomy be destroyed and the constricting binary be undone.

Brown also notes in Jezebel’s War with America that Dr. Barb Burdge, a professor of social work at Manchester University, herself a lesbian, argues, “Binary gender models are the foundation on which transgender oppression (and several other oppressive systems) depends.” Or, with less hostility but the same end result, feminist Ruth Barrett writes, “There are over 7 billion human beings on the planet. Therefore, there have to be over 7 billion genders. No one is special if we are all unique. When you think outside the gender identity frame, the concept of gender disappears because it is irrelevant to our uniqueness."

As early as the 1960s, Brown said, feminists declared that gender distinctions must be opposed and marriage must be eliminated.

"In a very real way," he added, "this too is a manifestation of the spirit of Jezebel, since she emasculates men, turning them into emotionally castrated males, and she defeminizes women, turning them into male-hating lesbians. This way, she destroys the God-ordained roles for males and females, thereby destroying the very foundations of our society."

In "Jezebel's War with America," Brown also explains how the forces of radical feminism come together with the extreme pro-abortion movement, among other spiritual and cultural forces, in an attempt to destroy America.

Brown's eye-opening book not only unveils the satanic plot to destroy America, beginning with an all-out assault on the church, but it will equip every believer with tools to defeat the enemy in their own personal lives as well as in the nation. Jezebel's War with America reveals how the spirit of Jezebel is at work in the 21st century through sexual immorality, abortion, radical feminism and even the fascination with witchcraft and sorcery, and equips readers to defeat the spirit of Jezebel on a personal and national level.
