

If Donald Trump Doesn't Win, Here's What Will Happen

If Donald Trump does not win the American presidency, televangelist Jim Bakker believes it will be the end of his show—and public evangelism as we know it.

“Anybody outside the church, they’ll shut all religious activity down,” Bakker tells pastor Ramiro Pena.

For the two, the election is more about how the person with the presidential reins will execute his or her power; specifically, who they will put on the Supreme Court.

“Listen to me, church,” Pena says. “With Donald Trump,” here’s what we get. Watch the video to see.
