

‘If This Doesn’t Make You Mad, I’m Not Sure What Will’

We’re seeing Bible prophecy come to pass before our very eyes as Christianity is ridiculed in the public square, the hosts of Revelation in the News say.

The millennial group points to Sen. Bernie Sanders’ recent verbal attack against Christian Russell Vought as evidence.

Sanders claimed Vought was Islamaphobic for holding to a staunch Christian perspective on Christ and eternity.

“If this doesn’t make you mad, I’m not sure what will,” co-host Kora Chrzan says.

Unfortunately, the senator’s words just echo the culture.

“America has over 300,000 churches, but few would contest that Christian culture is now on decline,” co-host John Wooddall says.

So what’s going on? Watch the video to see.

{eoa}