

In Thick of COVID-19 Crisis, We Need to Rediscover Jesus for All He Is Right Now

Right now, the thoughts of most Americans—including a majority of Christians—are preoccupied with pandemics, paychecks, politics, and prospects for the future.

We ask: Is the virus coming for me next? How will I be able to put food on the family table? Who is best qualified to lead us out of this nightmare? Will life ever return to “normal”?

Surely, there is no better time for believers to pursue a fresher, larger, more dynamic, more magnificent, more hope-filled vision of the greatness and glory of our Redeemer Savior than right now!

At this moment, should we not be praying in a thousand different ways the opening words of this world-famous Celtic hymn: “Be THOU my vision, O Lord of my heart”?

In the face of this crisis, Ephesians 4 reassures us: When Jesus ascended on high, he did so “in order to fill the whole universe”—as well as your heart—with his reign. Right now, on Heaven’s throne, King Jesus is actively at work—flooding this hour with healing for our diseases, victories for our worst fears, sovereignty over our political processes, and glorious promises that the best is yet to come.

How many of us would welcome an opportunity to explore and experience more of the glories of our Savior in this challenging hour? Well, The CHRIST TODAY Podcast with David Bryant (now reaching its 100th episode) is a brand-new resource the Holy Spirit is using to do just that with tens of thousands of your fellow Christians.
