

Is America Ready for This Truth?

Part 6 of Center for Medical Progress' exposé reveals more of PPH's and StemExpress' deceptive tactics. Their use of trickery to achieve political, financial or legal purposes knows no limits. The abortion/body harvesting machine is now admitting that they also procure adult stem cells from the mothers they have sometimes butchered and even killed.

Their underhanded schemes, corruption and political chicanery are no longer behind closed doors. The Center for Medical Progress is keeping it out in the open.

We could call the body snatchers grave robbers, but since their baby victims rarely get a decent burial, we have to call a spade a spade. These people kill and harvest people for profit.

They are taking stem cells and body parts at a time when the mother is awaiting their abortion "services." She is likely conflicted, sedated, scared and subject to agree to anything without understanding what is really happening while she is in their clutches.

Meanwhile, the abortion providers and scientists are after her baby's body parts, umbilical cord blood, mothers eggs and ovaries and God knows what else they might be harvesting and trading for money. And they charge the mother upfront and make her sign papers to cover their trail. She consents and pays a fee for impending doom.

Of course StemExpress and PPH deny any reports against their agenda. In response to part six of the CMP expose, they had this to say:

That it has "never obtained blood or tissue samples from a patient without first obtaining consent.” It adds, “Like all of their previous material, today’s video by CMP is deceptively edited and falsely worded to suggest impropriety or illegality where none exists. CMP’s continued efforts to malign StemExpress—a life sciences company that predominantly supplies adult cells, blood and tissue to the nation’s leading researchers—will only serve to slow the pace of life-saving medical research aimed at curing disease and extending quality of life for millions of Americans.”

I wonder if Donald Trump and other presidential hopefuls have taken time to study the history of Planned Parenthood. Mr. Trump and maybe millions of Americans seem to think that if the government only cuts or bans PPH abortion funding, that the abortion giant and their cohorts like StemExpress will be salvageable and can offer something good to society. That’s like giving a lion a pedicure, ignoring its fangs and letting it loose on unsuspecting victims.

I recently signed a letter demanding that the statue and other likenesses of PPH Founder Margaret Sanger be removed from the Smithsonian Institution’s National Portrait Gallery. The letter points out that Sanger was a racist and elitist who advocated limiting if not eradicating those she deemed unworthy of life. In her book, Women and the New Race, Sanger wrote of “weeding out the unfit, of preventing the birth of defectives or those who will become defective.”

Currently there are two women running for President of the U.S. Which one really cares about women? In two FOX NEWS debates, we heard 17 candidates say that abortion is not good. Are preachers, politicians, leaders and lay people listening? Is America ready to hear the truth? It’s really time to PRAY for AMERICA.

Alveda King is author of King Rules, founder of Alveda King Ministries, director of African American Outreach for Priests for Life, and spiritual adviser for Restore the Dream 2015.