

Is Justin Bieber Really Preaching the Gospel on His Purpose Tour?

Justin Bieber is reportedly preaching the gospel to his opening acts on the Purpose tour.

“Backstage on his Purpose tour, Justin has been sitting down with his opening acts and encouraging them to put Christ before everything,” a source tells The Sun.

“His aim is to convert the people he loves and warn other stars against the evils of the industry.

“Justin’s life changed for the better since he found God, and he has been making better decisions now that he has found peace within his faith.

“After seeing so many other celebs go off the rails, he wants to help his friends find the joy and happiness he has,” the source continued.
