

Is Obama Delusional or Dishonest?

Last week, President Obama claimed to have “restored the United States as the most respected country on earth.” Is Obama delusional or disingenuous? Not since World War II have we seen so much chaos and confusion around the globe. The Islamic State is now larger than the state of Florida. China ignores us, the Kremlin laughs at us, our allies don’t trust us, and our enemies don’t fear us. The Middle East is on the verge of a nuclear arms race and Iran is about to get the bomb. The only thing President Obama has restored in the White House is an ineptitude we haven’t seen since the Carter administration. As president, I will lead with moral clarity and restore America’s strength in the world. We need to quit apologizing for being America and start leading. Reprinted from Mike Huckabee’s website.