

James Dobson: 'Have We Gone Completely Mad?'

American pro-family advocate Dr. James Dobson admitted recently to accidentally walking into the girls' bathroom when he was in elementary school.

"I was mortified beyond belief. I sneaked back into class and looked at the floor, wondering who might have witnessed my unthinkable crime. That was decades ago, but I haven't forgotten my humiliation. The cardinal rule is that boys and girls never entered each other's private facilities. Never!"

In a new article written for World Net Daily, the Focus on the Family founder who now hosts "Family Talk" on the radio said the world has changed a lot since then. The changes, he said, have been "unbelievable."

Did it upset you when the president of the United States ordered every public school in America to open all its bathroom facilities including those that are in use by a member of the opposite sex? The president's order made me furious, and then sick to my stomach. How dare this man do something so audacious and unthinkable! His letter from the White House carried an implied threat to withhold federal money from local schools, which rocked the halls of public education. Who is this politician that is spending your hard-earned tax dollars to manipulate school officials, anyway? Who is it that is warping our children? It is Barack Obama, one of the worst presidents in American history, and it is time we stood up and said so!

Obama, acting like a king, is wielding dictatorial powers never envisioned in the law. He is determined to change the way males and females relate to one another, and worse, how children perceive themselves. If you are a married man with any gumption, surely you will defend your wife's privacy and security in restroom facilities. Would you remain passive after knowing that a strange-looking man, dressed like a woman, has been peering over toilet cubicles to watch your wife in a private moment? What should be done to the pervert who was using mirrors to watch women and girls in their stalls? If you are a dad, I pray you will protect your little girls from men who walk in unannounced, unzip their pants and urinate in front of them. If this had happened 100 years ago, someone might have been shot. Where is today's manhood? God help us!

Dobson, who called Obama a tyrant, questioned under what authority the president could "tell parents and school officials what to teach children under their care," and asked his Christian audience if his doing so "violated" their sense of propriety. Obama has previously maneuvered the courts to undermine the 5,000-year-old biblical definition of marriage, and he still has seven months to go, so Dobson asked, "What is next?"
