Weaver was raised in a strict Christian home. Regular church attendance was a part of her life, but there was also a lot of dysfunction that shaped the way Weaver viewed Christians. By the time she turned 13, she decided she didn't want to be a part of the church because she saw her parents do one thing on Sunday and be mean the rest of the week. She didn't feel loved.

The enemy used her feelings to deceive her. Weaver felt bullied at school and at home. She became depressed and began to cut herself. The music she listened to further promoted dark feelings, and she ended up using drugs and practicing witchcraft. She became hateful and was a mean, bitter liar.

This sweet little girl who was brought up in the church and baptized in the Holy Spirit at the age of 6 was transformed by the enemy. She hated God, her parents and siblings. At 17, she was living on the streets, homeless, on drugs, practicing witchcraft and far from the Lord. For 9 1/2 years, she remained in and out of rehab and jail, living on the streets, until God took hold of her.

One day when she was pregnant, homeless, using methamphetamines and married to a drug-dealer husband, Weaver felt her child kicking. She realized she needed help and recalled years earlier when her mother told her, "If you need help, call on the name of Jesus."
