

‘Jesus Loves You’: Pastor’s Powerful Act After Delivery Woman Brings Wrong Order Goes Viral

A truly powerful moment unfolded in Castle Rock, Colorado, last weekend after a pastor ordered pizza and the delivery woman brought him the wrong food.

While some people might have been frustrated or angry over the mess-up, Pastor Neal Seiwert took a different approach. He greeted Suzanna, the delivery woman, with kindness.

The entire ordeal, which was captured on Ring footage, has since gone viral.

“I’m sorry; I’m getting old,” Suzanna said as she approached Seiwert’s door. “I saw 57. You were order 67. So 57, 67; I screwed up. I’m sorry.”

The pastor told her not to worry and then offered profound compassion.

“We love you and Jesus loves you,” Seiwert said. “And we hope you have a great night.”
