

Jimmy Swaggart Among Southern Gospel Icons Honored at 2025 SGMA Hall of Fame Concert

A special television concert honoring the 2025 inductees into the Southern Gospel Music Association (SGMA) Hall of Fame is set to air Monday, June 30 at 7 p.m. ET.

Hosted by Singing News, the televised celebration will spotlight the enduring contributions of gospel legends, headlined by evangelist and musician Jimmy Swaggart.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

The concert will feature music, tributes and reflections on the lives and ministries of the SGMA's 2025 Hall of Fame class: Jimmy Swaggart, Duane Allen, Gary McSpadden, Jeanette Cook and Nick Bruno. Viewers can expect a spirit-filled evening as gospel music fans across the country join in honoring these foundational voices whose legacies have shaped generations of Southern Gospel.

"We are so honored that Brother Swaggart is being recognized this year," read a statement from Jimmy Swaggart Ministries on social media. "Singing News is hosting a TV Special featuring the Class of 2025 Southern Gospel Music Association Hall of Fame inductees! Tune in Monday, June 30th, 7 PM ET, for a night of celebration as we honor Brother Swaggart, along with others whose legacy has helped shape the world of Southern Gospel music."