

John Hagee Hits Religious Spirits Between the Eyes

Pastor John Hagee called out religious spirits who condemn the Lord's anointed in a recent Facebook post.

His social media devotional appears to be straight out of Matthew 23, where Christ condemned the Pharisees.

Hagee writes:

#DailyDevotion: What is condemnation? Condemnation is when someone says disapproving things about you, describing your inability to be a certain way or to accomplish certain things. There are "religious" people who go around condemning other people, declaring how unfit they are to be used by God or the church. They do so to hide their own inferiorities and weaknesses. Don't let people throw their condemnation on you. It is the Holy Spirit's job to condemn and convict, not anyone else's.

Do you agree? Sound off!
