

Jonathan Roumie Teases What's Next For 'The Chosen in the Wild'

Both fans of outdoor adventures and of "The Chosen" have much to look forward to in the coming weeks.

In a post on X, Jonathan Roumie announced that "The Chosen in the Wild" with Bear Grylls would be coming to Amazon Prime on August 9.

"The adventure begins soo-...okay nope. I won't even say it," Roumie wrote on X. "What I will say is that The Chosen in the Wild with my good friend @BearGrylls is streaming ON @primevideo August 9!"

The adventure begins soo-...okay nope. I won't even say it. ☐☐

What I will say is that The Chosen in the Wild with my good friend @BearGrylls is streaming ON @primevideo August 9!

☐☐☐☐

Thank you to @AmazonMGMStudio, @thechosentv and @LightWorkers
☐☐♥☐

– Jonathan (@JonathanRoumie) July 22, 2026

In a trailer for the show, cast members Jonathan Roumie, who plays Jesus, Elizabeth Tabish, who plays Mary Magdalene, The Chosen creator, Dallas Jenkins, and other stars from the show are seen being tested by Grylls on incredible adventures such as skydiving, ziplining, trying strange delicacies and covering incredible, rugged terrain in places like Utah's Castle Valley, the Colorado River, the Adirondack Forest and more.

To order Travis Johnson's new book, [Un]Embarrassed of Jesus, visit .

"I'm Bear Grylls, and the outdoors and adventure has been my life. The TV phenomenon, The Chosen, is a story of the greatest adventure of all time. Get to know the people behind this Bible story for an expedition of their own," Grylls says in the video.