

Kickin' It Old School

 Go Fish! | GFK Records

Jamie Statema, Jason Folkmann and Andy Selness make up Go Fish! and started out 15 years ago as an a cappella group. Eventually, they realized that their call was to children and families, creating music that “won’t drive parents bonkers.” Although their focus was on kids before they were dads themselves, their passion for what they do only intensified when they started their own families. These family entertainers are determined to make good music, but even more so to share the gospel and win others to Christ.

Go Fish! talked with The Buzz editor Leigh DeVore about their ministry, their VBS curriculum and their new album, Kickin' It Old School, which releases Aug. 10. Click below to listen to the podcast.

{audio source_mp3=""}
download mp3

Click here to purchase this CD.