

Lana Vawser: Sit at His Feet, Seek His Heart

On Live Your Best Life with Liz Wright, on Charisma Podcast Network, Lana Vawser speaks on the new era we are in and the profound invitation to walk in unprecedented intimacy with God. Lana says, “I truly believe this is the hour where God is raising up those burning ones that are pure in heart.” She says that the “pure in heart” are not those who are perfect but are looking for God everywhere.

Lana shares about her new book, I Hear the Lord Say, “New Era”, and that God is wanting to fortify His people in hope and in who He is. We are to sit at His feet and gaze, with a ferocious focus of faith, for every word that comes out of His mouth goes forth to accomplish His purposes. We are powerfully seated above our circumstances, and we become increasingly aware of this as we focus our eyes onto Jesus. Our true reality is where we are seated with Him; we get to listen and from that place govern on the earth.

Lana shares a dream she had earlier this year, where the Lord kept saying to her “Meditate on what it would have been like for Mary to sit at My feet.” This is the greatest place we can be invited into. As Lana says, “My greatest treasure is the place of sitting at His feet.” The Lord is longing for those who seek His heart, and we have the privilege of accepting His invitation. Signs, wonders and miracles are amazing, but it’s about living in relationship with the one who is revival. We get to live not on bread alone but on His every word. It’s time to be completely consumed with who He is and be locked eye-to-eye with Him. {eo}
