

Lance Wallnau: 'The (Mainstream) Media Is the Democratic Party!'

Dr. Lance Wallnau boldly proclaimed on social media Thursday night that the media—meaning the liberal mainstream media—is the Democratic Party.

“Remember that when you watch fake protests on TV,” he wrote in a post to his Facebook account. “The thing is funded by [billionaire George] Soros and his crew, but now we are on to their game.

“Folks, we are lied to every day by the Democrat Party, which is the media. We are lied to about how we are viewed in the country. We are lied to about how they are viewed. We are lied to about how the country loves their policies and loves them. We are lied to each and every day, and it is the daily soap opera that I have warned about and talked about that the media gets together and scripts, the daily narrative.”

Nationally syndicated radio host Rush Limbaugh, he added, is right.

The post was a continuation of a bombshell revelation he shared earlier in the day that Soros and were behind the #NotMyPresident “protests” and riots taking place across the country. He had shared his proof Thursday morning with his Facebook followers.

He called them “paid theater,” picked up by the liberal mainstream media as means to distract from having to discuss for another night why their predictions of the presidential election were so horribly wrong. Having failed at lying about Trump being a “hatemonger,” they were now attempting to use the images of the protests to frighten the American public back into submission, he added.

“So how do these protests self organize? They don’t!” he wrote. “It’s scripted. Somebody on payroll gets the bull horn and hands out the posters and tells people how to chant. THINK I AM KIDDING? I just got access to a MoveOn press release Wednesday afternoon. Here’s what the Soros funded entity says:

The gatherings—organized by MoveOn and allies—will affirm a continued rejection of Donald Trump’s bigotry, xenophobia, Islamophobia, and misogyny and demonstrate our resolve to fight together for the America we still believe is possible.

Within two hours of the call-to-action, MoveOn members had created more than 200 gatherings nationwide, with the number continuing to grow on Wednesday afternoon.

WHAT: Hundreds of peaceful gatherings of solidarity, resistance, and resolve nationwide

WHEN / WHERE: Find local gatherings here. Major gatherings include in New York City’s Columbus Circle and outside the White House in Washington, DC.

RSVP: Please email press@moveon to confirm attendance.

“‘This is a disaster. We fought our hearts out to avert this reality. But now it’s here,’ MoveOn staff wrote to members on Wednesday. ‘The new president-elect and many of his most prominent supporters have targeted, demeaned and threatened millions of us—and millions of our friends, family and loved ones. Both chambers of Congress remain in Republican hands. We are entering an era of profound and unprecedented challenge, a time of danger for our communities and our country. In this moment, we have to take care of ourselves, our families, and our friends—especially those of us who are on the front lines facing hate, including Latinos, women, immigrants, refugees, black people, Muslims, LGBT Americans and so many others. And we need to make it clear that we will continue to stand together.'

"The people responding to this call need to first get it clear that the garbage they ingested from liberal media was poison and that the real Donald Trump is not who they were told he is. But lots of luck. There is no mind as closed as a mind locked into a victim narrative nourished by words of hate.

"Pray for laborers to be released into God's harvest. I think this may include 'trainers' being raised up. Christians need to become activists in their own sphere. We need new harvesting organizations to enter the harvest field where the devil is recruiting wounded and vulnerable people into his fake cause. We need to not only preach the gospel we must counter the narrative of Soros and his minion of organizations bent on destroying America as we know it."
