

Larry Tomczak: Will Josh Harris Heed This Appeal as He Drifts Into Apostasy?

Over a week ago, bestselling author and influential pastor Josh Harris declared that he was separating from his wife and was no longer a Christian. He said he was apologizing to the LGBTQ community for not accepting gay marriage. Now he is participating in a gay pride parade and posting alarming messages, leaving Christians who love him and his wife in further confusion and heartbreak.

If you haven't seen the heartfelt appeal I made to Josh, my friend over the years and a fellow laborer in the kingdom of God, watch this brief video appeal. May it motivate everyone to prayerful intercession at a critical time in this leader's life.
