I'm overwhelmed with emotion, (Dad is crying) reflecting on God's goodness and faithfulness. As parents, we long for our children's physical well-being, but more than that, I've prayed for their hearts to know and love God.

The music mogul also made the point that he did his part of sharing the gospel with her, knowing that only God can truly change what's in our hearts.

I'd sit at breakfast reading the Bible, sharing the gospel, and pointing her to Him, knowing I can't change my baby girl's heart—only God can. All I could do was serve, pray and trust in His timing. And He's faithful!!! I'm beyond grateful because my heavenly Father is far greater than I could ever be. I LOVE YOU Maya! Thank You Jesus!
