

Lisa Bevere's Prophetic Dream: 'Dragons are Very, Very Real'

Does God speak to us through dreams?

Lisa Bevere had a prophetic dream warning she believes is critical for us right now. It was about the spiritual battle between women and dragons.

"I found myself in a dream where I was walking into a room of women. They were all different women of all different ages. And in my dream I felt like I knew these women, but I don't remember any of them individually," Bevere says.

Bevere reveals in this dream she knew something was off when she entered the room full of women. Then, she saw something shocking and horrifying.

"All of the women were holding something close to their chest, kind of like hiding it," she explains. "Kind of coddling it, kind of stroking it. And as I got closer I realized that all of the women were holding different jewel-toned baby dragons."

Bevere admits that this sounds completely wild, but the detail of the dragons had an even greater depth to it.

"These baby dragons were dressed in children's clothing. They were sapphire and ruby red and emerald green and bright yellow. And in my dream I thought, 'What is going on? Why would women be holding in a protective way, baby dragons?'"

As the dream continued, Bevere went to each woman and asked if they realized they were holding a dragon. She says these women would bring comeback statements, as though she couldn't understand the importance of these dragons to them.

"They would counter me and say, 'These are different dragons. These are the wise, kind dragons.' But I knew there was no agreement between daughters and dragons," says Bevere.

In the dream, Bevere rose up in anger as the women wanted her to pet their dragons, but she knew this would've been a grave mistake.

So, what does this dream mean? What warning was God giving Lisa Bevere?

"That was in 2016. Time passed, and I began to watch what was unfolding. I began to realize that these rainbow-colored, jewel-toned dragons dressed in children's clothing actually represent an attack and an alignment between the enemy of our souls and God's daughters. Somehow, the dragons had tricked the women into thinking that they were allies when they are eternal enemies. And so, I decided I need[ed] to do a deep dive into what I saw. And I want you to know that dragons are very, very real," she says.

Bevere points to Revelation 12:17 which reads: "Then the dragon was angry with the woman, and he went to wage war with the remnant of her offspring, who keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus Christ."

"What began between one woman, Eve, and a serpent in the garden, has now grown to a dragon and all those that hold to the testimony of Jesus Christ and keep His commandments. But there is a special hatred between women and dragons, women and serpents. We see it play out in Revelation 12 that there is a very angry dragon who is after our children and we need to wake up as women and understand that God is calling us to fight this dragon in the strength that He has given us as daughters of God," Bevere continues.

There is a very real enemy who comes to steal, kill and destroy us at all costs. It is his goal to see the children of God crumble and fall to pieces. But through the power of the Holy Spirit, by the covering of Christ's blood shed on the cross, we can overcome the fiery darts of the enemy.
