

Megachurch Pastor Robert Morris Calls Out Christians Who Read Internet Gossip

We call ourselves Christians, but how often do we let the depths of the Internet creep into our brain when we're alone?

Guarding your heart and eyes from the rumors of the Internet grows increasingly difficult as the line between reality and falsehood blurs on the digital front.

We know gossip is wrong, but we continue to indulge with a few clicks of the keys. We pour over articles highlighting a pastor's failures or fall from grace. We post our comments without research, falling victim to a deadly sin.

Megachurch Pastor Robert Morris is fed up with it. Watch the video to see what he has to say.
