

Michael Snyder: America Doesn't Want to Listen to Prophets

Michael Snyder is sure an economic collapse is coming, but he says his theories aren't based on random guess work. Rather, he says he is listening to the prophets.

"The Scriptures say in the end times this is what we are to expect, that we are going to be moving toward this one world religious system," Snyder tells Jim Bakker. "So we need to be aware, no matter who is telling us something, we've got to make sure it lines up with the Word of God."

Snyder says prophets are crying out to America, but the country is not heeding their warnings.

Based on the biblical pattern, Snyder is predicting what will happen not just in the natural, but the supernatural. Take a look.