

Mike Huckabee Urges Voters Not to Violate Faith

You and I both know the upcoming elections are critical and getting pro-life and pro-family voters engaged and to the polls in large numbers will determine the outcome.

I firmly believe our very republic is in danger. Those of us who love liberty must rally together for a better future that does not include Barack Obama as president.

For four years, we've given a chance to a man with very limited experience in governing, no experience in business whatsoever and since taking office, mostly interested in campaigning, blaming and aiming excuses at his predecessor, the Republicans and people in business. We've stagnated into an economy that has taken all that hope right down the slope and has left millions without jobs. Our neighbors have been forced out of their homes by foreclosure and herded into dependency.

We must never forget that Barack Obama supports changing the definition of marriage, believes that human life is disposable and expendable at any time in the womb, even beyond the womb. And he tells people of faith that they have to bow their knees to the God of government and violate their faith and conscience in order to comply with what he calls, health care.

You joined with me on 1 for "Chick-fil-A Appreciation Day." We grew an idea into an event where the silent majority came forward and stood together in support of free speech. Today, I am asking that these same Americans, and their friends and family rally together once again for America. The goal is simple: Let's stand together and vote together on Election Day. We stood in line for a chicken sandwich. Now we need to stand in line to vote and keep this country from falling further towards socialism.

Let's make this viral. Make it your own platform—not mine. Please share this with your personal networks of friends and family. It is important that we show how unified we are in this mission so that we can't be dismissed as only a few.

To commit your vote on Election Day visit my website here. Over 50,000 patriots already have committed their votes and we are adding thousands of supporters by the hour. Our goal is to identify at least 500,000 voters by Election Day. So your help is needed to grow 50,000 into 500,000 voters.

The president has asked America for four more years. I say enough is enough. Let's vote him out. Our vote decides!
