

Minister Healed of Terminal Cancer Reveals 3 Things That May Be Blocking Your Miracles

Two-thirds of British Christians say they have experienced the supernatural, according to a recent study. And one out of four had that experience within the past seven days, according to , and most of those experiences involved answered prayers and healings.

A new book out helps explain the supernatural and why Christians should expect to see their own miracles from God.

At 94 years young, Mickie Winborn still runs a ministry out of her home in Houston, Texas.

She recently published her third book, Stepping into the Supernatural, which documents her travels around the world, from war zones like Panama during the U.S. invasion, to China where she smuggled Bibles in her suitcase.

Winborn says she wrote the book to help people.

“There’s truly a supernatural, of course. Unfortunately, there is one of darkness and one of light,” she explained. “People don’t want to hear that, but that’s why if you have a supernatural experience, if it’s not validated in the word of God, forget it.”

Winborn, an ordained minister, has served the Lord passionately for nearly 75 years.

She says it’s normal for Christians to receive gifts of the Holy Spirit that line up with Scriptures in the Bible, like miracles, healings and prophecy.

“I have seen Him do incredible miracles, and you know, some of them are kind of breathtaking really,” she told CBN News. “People get out of wheelchairs and walk. We had a lot of limbs lengthened, arms legs lengthened.”
