

Modern Parable Imagines What if Starbucks Marketed Like a Church

Why do we expect better service from our local coffeeshop than from our local churches? This video, billed as a modern parable, calls out questionable church practices that may be scaring visitors away from God.