5 Clues to Spotting the Christian Narcissist

Narcissism can be challenging to identify, especially when cloaked in Christian language and behaviors.

Kris Reece, a Christian life coach and author, recently shared insights into identifying "Christian narcissists," individuals who use their faith to manipulate and control others. In one of her recent videos, Reece outlines five key traits to watch for, offering guidance rooted in biblical teachings.

1. Lack of True Emotional Intimacy

Reece warns that Christian narcissists struggle with genuine emotional connections. "Trying to connect emotionally with a narcissist is like watering a plastic plant; no matter how much you pour, it'll never grow," she says. This mirrors the Bible's call for genuine love, as seen in Romans 12:9, "Love must be sincere. Hate what is evil; cling to what is good."

3 Major Bombshells Everyone Should Be Talking About

The past couple of weeks have truly been historic.

Take a moment and just consider some of the major events that we have witnessed. Donald Trump got shot, Joe Biden dropped out of the race for president and Kamala Harris quickly became the new presumptive nominee. It is hard to remember a time when so much has happened in such a short period of time.

Now more bombshells have dropped, but because so much else is going on they are not getting the attention that they deserve. The following are three major bombshells that everybody should be talking about right now.

Glenn Beck Predicts Chaos for Kamala Harris at DNC

How crazy are the days we are living in according to conservative commentator Glenn Beck?

"If I was to sum it up in just a few words, I would say it would have to be 'Jesus is coming,'" Beck explains to host Allie Beth Stuckey.

These are certainly wild times, especially when it comes to American politics. While many believe that Vice President Kamala Harris now holds the Democratic nomination for president, Beck isn't convinced.
