Megachurch Causes Stir Over Easter Invites

Megachurch Elevation Church in Charlotte, North Carolina, has been stirring up controversy over this year's invitations.

Digital content creator Nikki Shearer explained in an interview with Pro Church Tools why the church will not be using key phrases like "the blood of Jesus," "resurrection" or "Calvary" on their Easter invites.

"For us, the most important thing on Easter is inviting people to church," Shearer says. "Easter and Christmas are the only two Sundays of the year that actually are wrapped around a particular passage in the Bible."

Who Compared Trump to Jesus During Holy Week?

In the process of preparing for another trial, former President Donald Trump shared an unexpected source of inspiration, which predictably blew the roof off the mainstream media.

The suit against Trump for allegedly paying porn star Stormy Daniels, whose real name is Stephanie Clifford, hush money while he was a presidential candidate in 2016, has now been pushed back to the month of April. It is being reported that jury selection will begin April 15.

In addition, Trump and his team also received some welcomed news from an appellate court on Monday.

CAUTION: Space Weather Warning Follows Solar Explosion

From the blood moon and the coming eclipse, the next item to be on the lookout for is a geomagnetic storm warning issued by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Space Weather Prediction Center.

The space storm warning comes after plasma burst from a solar flare. This geomagnetic storm has the potential to make the Northern Lights visible in the continental United States and the United Kingdom.

Not only will many have the opportunity to see the phenomenon in the skies, but this storm warning includes the possibility of interfering with communication signals, especially high-frequency radio transmissions.{eo}
