NOW Would Leave Even Karl Marx Scratching His Head

About 40 years ago, I saw an ad on Christian TV promoting a new translation of the Bible. It depicted King James as he was presented with a copy of the new translation bearing his name in 1611. Turning to one passage, the king read the words, "with the froward thou wilt shew thyself froward" (Ps. 18:26), only to ask, "What is froward?"

The point of the ad was to underscore the need for a modern translation of the Bible, arguing that the King James Version didn't even make sense to King James because it used English expressions that were even outdated in his day.

That ad came to mind when reading a since-deleted post by the National Organization for Women, which stated, "Repeat after us: Weaponizing womanhood against other women is white supremacist patriarchy at work. Making people believe there isn't enough space for trans women in sports is white supremacist patriarchy at work."

Jonathan Cahn: Israel, Iran and End Times Prophecy

There's something much greater and deeper to the Iranian attack on Israel than meets the eye.

While news outlets can only provide the basic facts and propose diplomatic solutions, Rabbi and prophetic voice Jonathan Cahn says that what happened with the Iranian attack is actually a spiritual battle and the beginning of the fulfillment of end times prophecy.

Looking at Ezekiel 38, which discusses an invasion of Israel, Cahn says there are specific details mentioned in this Scripture that are key to what we are seeing today.

Dog the Bounty Hunter Talks Spiritual Warfare, Faith

When people think of Dog the Bounty Hunter, they may not think of a warrior in the spiritual realm. However, he may have more experience with the supernatural than anyone thought.

Dog, whose real name is Duane Chapman, discussed with the Christian Post the traumatic things he's seen firsthand.

"I have arrested and seen men that would do terrible things to little children as young as six months old. That is demonic possession. That is evil at its max," Chapman said.
