

Nashville Journalist Quits TV, Says ‘My Heart Has Fallen in Love with the Bible... All I Want to Do Is Study His Word’

A Nashville news reporter announced Sunday she’s trading in her microphone for a Bible.

Sophia Petrovich of ABC affiliate WKRN-TV in Nashville, Tennessee, posted a “life update” Sunday on Instagram. It was quickly picked up by news outlets, including the New York Post.

“I have loved news for so many years,” she wrote. “Getting to tell stories, be so ingrained in my community and work alongside some of the best in the business has filled my heart to the brim!”