

NBC Show Glamorizes One-Night Stands and Homosexuality

NBC has launched another program attempting to redefine what makes a family. "One Big Happy" is described as a show about best friends Lizzy and Luke who are like family. As kids, they saw each other's parents go through divorce and have ever since formed an inseparable bond. Now, all grown up and still single, they've decided to start a family of their own, but in a non-traditional way. Lizzy, who is a lesbian, wants to raise a child with Luke by her side. Then one night, Luke falls for Prudence, a free-spirited British girl who's due to go back to England in a matter of days. Then, just as Lizzy discovers that she's actually pregnant, Luke announces that he and Prudence have gotten married—and in an instant, a different kind of family is born.

The season premiere aired Tuesday, March 17 at 9:30 ET/8:30 PM CT, which also happens to be the same timeslot the network chose to run "The New Normal" with an extremely similar theme. It is no surprise that openly gay Ellen DeGeneres is one of the executive producers of this new show where the three will attempt to live together as one big happy family under one roof. It also includes a good bit of pixelated nudity that leaves very little to the imagination.

NBC's "One Big Happy" is attempting to desensitize America and our children. This new show is damaging to our culture and harmful to our society for a number of reasons. This program glamorizes one-night stands, nudity, homosexuality and foul language.

IMM is prepared to contact sponsors of "One Big Happy" requesting they pull financial support from the program. It is proven this strategy works! It was not too long ago that NBC announced "The New Normal" had been canceled after only one season because of lack of advertisers!

Please use the information we have provided to contact Synsodyne (GlaxoSmithKline) and ask they pull their financial support from "One Big Happy."
