

No Safe Haven

✖ Kimberley Woodhouse and Kayla R. Woodhouse | B&H Books

Fact meets fiction in this taut adventure written by a mother-daughter team.

In real life, daughter Kayla R. Woodhouse has a rare nerve disorder, a condition mirrored in the story in Andie Tikaani-Gray, 12-year-old daughter of Jenna and Marcus Gray. Andie and Jenna have been alone for a year since Marcus was killed, their lives finally beginning to find peace.

But a plane crash turns their world into a race for safety and even for their lives. Mysterious passenger Cole Maddox is certainly hiding something, but Andie and Jenna need his help to survive the harsh Alaskan landscape and the dangerous men who want them dead. As the trio battles to make it off Sultana Mountain, forces larger than they know are gathering to demand AMI, a weapon Marcus created—and died for. Can Cole protect “his girls” long enough to find AMI and save their lives?

The authors Woodhouse have created a novel of high adventure, exhilarating suspense, powerful divine protection and enough love to bring tears all around. Aside from action-adventure fans, potential readers will include those who have seen the family’s story on ABC’s Extreme Makeover: Home Edition.
