

OMG: Will Jesus Return via Facebook?

✖ Social media sites such as Facebook and Twitter might play a significant role in the second coming of Christ, evangelist Rev. Franklin Graham says.

“The Bible says that every eye is going to see [the second coming],” Graham told “This Week” anchor Christiane Amanpour. “How is the whole world going to see [Jesus Christ] all at one time? I don’t know, unless all of a sudden everybody’s taking pictures and it’s on the media worldwide. I don’t know. Social media could have a big part in that.”

Graham said he believes that when Jesus returns to earth from heaven, he will come on the clouds and the world will record the event using cell phones and cameras.

“Just look at what’s happening in Libya or Egypt,” said Graham, 58, who recently faced criticism for saying that the Japanese tsunami might foretell the second coming of Christ.

Read the rest of this story on ABC.