

Parental Warning: Disney Debuts 'Gayest Star Wars Ever'

Star Wars was never Christian, and really, neither was Disney, but they were two forms of fanciful entertainment from which families did not have to worry about radical left-wing indoctrination.

Now, this is predominantly what they push out as product to the masses.

With the newest iteration of streaming Star Wars content on the Disney+ app, "The Acolyte," viewers are deluged with radical feminist theory, LGBTQ+ themes and writing so dull and boring as to me paint drying seem like an extreme sport.

But are parents aware of the indoctrinating effects of programming like "The Acolyte" and much of what Disney/Pixar produces? Will parents grasp how their children will be desensitized to the unnatural ideologies that Disney and others are pushing?

The showrunner Disney selected, Leslye Headland, an open-lesbian who cast her wife in one of the lead roles, has made no attempt to hide her desire to implement as much homosexual messaging in the new show as possible.

"...people have told me it's the gayest Star Wars, and I am frankly ... I'm into it," Headland shared in a recent interview.

As reported by the Daily Wire, "Earlier this year, a video from the 2023 Star Wars Celebration captured Headland saying how 'The Acolyte' would be "coded queer" like the animated children's film, 'Frozen.'"

When the radical gender and sexuality activists say they are not after kids, do not believe them, because that is exactly who they are after, as well as convincing parents it's "no big deal."

"There's just no way that me being a queer woman is not going to be reflected in my work. I could try not to do it, but why would I? It just feels like a natural extension of what I do," Headland says.

In these days, parents must take an active role in monitoring what their children take in, as well as what we watch ourselves. The devil is prowling, looking for an opening to influence our families' lives, lead us down a road of spiritual oppression and abandon the ways of God.

The words of the man granted the gift of wisdom by God, King Solomon, warns of avoiding evil, and the path that lays ahead for those who don't in Proverbs 4:14-17:

Do not enter the path of the wicked, and do not go in the way of evil men.

Avoid it, do not travel on it; turn from it and pass on.

For they do not sleep unless they have done mischief; and their sleep is taken away unless they cause some to fall.

For they eat the bread of wickedness and drink the wine of violence.
