

Pastor's Prophecy Over Oprah Comes to Pass

Oprah Winfrey: Many know the name from her decades as a top talk-show host, her years of giving extravagantly, her magazine or her network.

But before she became a household name, pastor Wintley Phipps gave Winfrey a prophecy that appears to now have come to pass.

The two met after Phipps was singing at the Baltimore Civic Center, and Winfrey approached him after, according to a new episode of Super Soul Sunday.

He invited her to his home, and as she prepared to leave, Phipps said, "Before you go, God has impressed me to tell you ..."

Watch the video to see the rest of the story.