

Pastor Who Prophesied Trump's Victory Gives 'Prayer Warriors' Marching Orders

Pastor Frank Amedia, who prophesied President Donald Trump's victory last November, has been leading a team of prayer warriors known as POTUS Shield in the effort to pray over not just the presidency, but our entire government.

Over the weekend, he released a new video in which he discussed the cancellation of a POTUS Shield event, as well as the need for additional prayer given the current situation in our nation's capital. You can watch the entire message in the video clip above.
