

Paula White Halloween Photo Stirs Religious Controversy

Little Red Riding Hood and the Big Bad Wolf made an appearance on evangelist Paula White's Instagram, much to the chagrin of her followers.

"Little Red Riding Hood with the Big Bad Wolf (emojis) 🐺 #love #marriage #life #fun #makingmemories" the newlywed posted.

The post has more than 1,500 likes and hundreds of comments.

"By dressing up for Satan's holiday, you are praising him. This is righteous judgment, not pointing a finger. The enemy needs to be exposed openly," one commenter posted.

Another wrote: "Dressing Up in a Costume...(Costume Parties-Fall Festival-Family Day,...) There is NOTHING WRONG with that..."

The back-and-forth is similar to conversations Christians have had in recent weeks regarding celebrating Halloween.

Some, like Pat Robertson, say Oct. 31 is the day millions celebrate Satan. Others, including director Darren Wilson, say the holiday is a chance for the community to come together.

What do you think of White's post? Sound off!