

Pistachio

 Big Idea | $

Need help teaching your children how to listen? Big Idea is here to save the day—or simply offer another fun lesson-adventure with Pistachio: The Little Boy That Woodn't. Drawing inspiration from the classic Pinocchio, the Veggies tell how the toymaker Gelato decided to carve a little boy out of wood. He was surprised when Pistachio could walk and talk and think!

When he tries to do this his own way, he gets into trouble—trouble that could hurt his whole family if he doesn't listen to his father and do what he says. Children will learn not only how important it is to listen to their parents, but also how important family is.

This DVD features the ever-popular Silly Song, and this time the song asks “Where Have All the Staplers Gone?” Other bonuses include an art gallery, commentary and a discussion guide. Once again Big Idea help parents teach valuable life lessons while providing family-friendly entertainment for the kids.
