

Project Veritas: Democrats Sending 'Agitators' to Trump Events to Incite Violence

Investigative journalist James O'Keefe and his Project Veritas have done it again.

In a new, explosive video, O'Keefe and his group connected the dots, linking the violence at Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump's campaign rallies to "agitators" hired by the Democratic National Committee and the Hillary Clinton campaign. The language is difficult to take in at times, but it proves the violence isn't being incited by Trump, but by DNC/Clinton operatives, and dirty tricks known as "birddogging."

"It doesn't matter what the friggin' legal and ethics people say," one of the operatives caught on camera said. "We need to win this [expletive]."