

Prophecies Unfolding From 145th Kentucky Derby

A unique and unforgettable race was just run last Saturday, and the controversies abound as Maximum Security was disqualified, and 65-1 odds Country House was declared the winner. The race conditions for the second year in a row were quite bad—with a huge field of horses, it made for a very muddy race.

For this article, I want to take note of the key numbers and names that stand out to me as being a part of the message. Maximum Security, Omaha Beach, Country Horse and Code of Honor will be referred to, as well as the numbers 7, 20, 65 and 145. I will also close with a paragraph on the Virginia Cavaliers winning the NCAA men's basketball championship recently, as I have not commented on that and there is a significant, connective message there too.

A Psalm 145 Time

A Psalm 145 time in itself would be worth doing an entire article about. In the midst of sloppy, muddy conditions we are actually in an amazing kingdom season. I will just quote a few lines from this psalm, but if we take it intravenously at this time, we will live in personal revival.

Psalm 145:3 says, "Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised, and His greatness is unfathomable." Verses 4–7 are so awesome as they speak of how "one generation shall praise Your works to another and shall declare Your mighty acts." These Scriptures continue with, "They shall pour forth [like a fountain] the fame of Your great and abundant goodness and joyfully sing of your rightness and justice" (emphasis mine, Ps. 145:7, AMPC). Verse 8 (MEV) says, "The Lord is gracious and full of compassion, slow to anger, and great in mercy."

Verse 13 continues, "Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and Your dominion endures throughout all generations."

On and on it goes, with life-giving statements for such a time as now, with verse 20 stating, "The Lord preserves all those who love Him, but all the wicked He will destroy."

Maximum Security Disqualified

If you watch the race, it can be hard to see the horse that was clearly the fastest, not being declared winner of the race. However, as you watch the replays, it is quite evident that this horse veered suddenly to the right, cutting off other horses and creating a very dangerous scenario that not only knocked out a few horses but could have easily turned into tragedy. It was seemingly miraculous how there wasn't a chain reaction of spilled horses as their heels seemed to clip each other.

Maximum Security is primarily a prison term, and a quote I saw said, "A prison that does as much as possible to keep prisoners from escaping and as part, watches them very closely."

Maximum Security came in as the undefeated horse and wore the coveted number seven. Prophetically, the two together did not represent a good thing, as it representatively speaks more of "deep state" control over society through its control of the seven mountains of media: arts, family, economy, education, government and religion. This "Maximum Security" tyranny of the Seven Mountains is being broken right now in a Psalm 145 moment of the kingdom of God breaking in.

Omaha Beach Scratched

For those who don't know, it was actually a horse named Omaha Beach that was the favorite to win the Kentucky Derby, but the horse had to be scratched due to a breathing disorder that required a surgery, which will now keep it out of the next two legs of the Triple Crown of horse racing. This, too, is significant. Omaha Beach has to do with D-Day and was a code name for the Normandy invasion of USA forces in World War II.

As I have been saying, behind the curtain of everything right now, we are at war in this country. However, this is not what marks this time as most important, and this is also more of a American Revolutionary War dynamic at play, rather than a World War II dynamic. The battle is between freedom and tyranny, and freedom is going to win.

Country House Wins

“Country House”—what an unglamorous name for a Kentucky Derby winner, but there is a lot to this name. In my last prophetic post from just a couple of days before the race, I spoke about how May and June were going to be about “improbable wins,” “agendas exposed” and “mysteries revealed.” This will all be tied into a 1 Corinthians 1:26-29 reality of God choosing the weak, small, and foolish things of the world to confound the wise. In this race we see the “mighty” horses did not win, but the 65-1 odds horse (which would have been even much higher if Omaha Beach had stayed in) was declared the winner.

I looked up the word “country,” and the definition came out as “possessing a style of rustic simplicity.” This goes with this theme of the unimpressive defeating the mighty. Then, as I looked up the definition for “house,” I found that it means “where a family lives.” We are back to the family focus I have also been speaking of, and I will get to that again in a moment. Also, this horse’s name goes macro and micro on us, with “Country” speaking to the macro and “House” to the micro. It is time for both to win!

I think Country House will also end up having an application to the “House” of our “country,” and that is Congress. It is presently on a muddy, messy track, being pushed around and dominated by “Maximum Security,” but the race judges are about to make a ruling to disqualify the tyranny of the bullying horse. (Once again, this is a symbolic message, and not one where we despise or hate the actual horse.)

65-1 Odds and the Number 20

Country House had 65-1 odds against winning and wore the number 20. I believe both of these numbers have to do with passages in Psalms. Psalm 65 and Psalm 20 are also each worth a whole article, as they are particularly poignant and relevant for right now.
