

Prophecy: Donald Trump's Election Was a Globe-Rattling Earthquake

Johnny Enlow, author of The Seven Mountain Prophecy, The Seven Mountain Mantle and Rainbow God, has written about a new word from the Lord that was published at The Elijah List on Tuesday morning.

In it, he writes:

With the election of Donald J. Trump, the United States and the world itself has just experienced a globe-rattling earthquake, which will release tsunami waves of reformation changes for some time. No matter who wins elections, God remains King at all times and this time, because He is King, He chose and voted in the man of His choice.

In the matrix of the spirit realm, as He placed Trump into power, He also released unprecedented wave after wave of the hosts of heaven. These heavenly hosts have heavily damaged three major principalities over government, media and the economy—and will continue to do so. The principalities were conspiring and doing everything in their power to sabotage this political result. They are not afraid of Trump's righteousness, but rather they're afraid of the size of the heavenly army they see moving in synchronicity with him.

In this day, it's important for all of us to understand that this is not about politics. It's not about Left or Right. It's not about our favorite political issue or our debates over the character or lack of it in "our candidate." This is about recognizing that God has intervened in the affairs of man and learning to agree with Him.

Enlow also wrote about a series of dreams he had that ended with "Trump 183," which led him to both Is. 18:3 and Jer. 18:3. Regarding those dreams, he wrote:

God has raised a Trump to His mouth and it is a Trump sound that all are hearing. As we connect to Jer. 18:3, He is also letting us know that He has Potter rights to come reform something that has lost its original intention and design, and He has the right to shape as it seems best to Him.

He also wrote about the Protestant Reformation and Bob Jones' vision of revival in America. And, at the end, he offered his thoughts on Trump's commission as well as the church's role in the reformation that is to come in America.

Enlow concluded:

Fasten your seat belts and get ready for a wild and exciting ride. Everything is about to change. There will be moves and counter-moves and then moves to counter that. The key is to choose ahead of time to enjoy the ride. We tend to be so observant of the enemy that we panic and overreact when we see what He is doing. If we continue that trend, we will have "emergency" calls for fasting and praying at almost a continual basis. Rather than getting on that express, just stay in unceasing, hopeful prayer.

"Prayer" is not supposed to be just the fearful processing of troubling news. Prayer is to be faith, hope and love-inspired conversation with God. We should pray more to agree with God than to disagree with the devil. We want to remain third-heaven conscious and less second-heaven conscious. What the enemy is concocting is often irrelevant. For every "Mordecai's gallows" the enemy is surreptitiously orchestrating, there will be an accompanying "Haman's noose" being prepared for the enemy himself.

We must operate from a foundation of the expectation of good from God. If we have a choice between being cynical or gullible, go with gullible. That was the mark of Gulliver.

It is time for outrageous Kingdom optimism. Everything will be working towards Kingdom advancement as never before in history. A protracted era of renaissance in the knowledge of God and His Kingdom is upon us, and if you keep that uppermost in your own narrative, you will find your personal destiny accelerated.
