

Prophetic Dream: Get Ready for Harvest and the Coming Glory

The Lord's been repeatedly drawing my attention to Isaiah 54 recently. I encourage you to read the Scripture in entirety, but particularly note verses 1-3.

In these verses, the barren woman was told to rejoice, for not only was she going to bear many children, but she also needed to enlarge her tent and dwellings in preparation for all the children coming.

In a dream one time, I saw myself pregnant, posting selfies of my baby bump on Facebook. As I awoke, I heard, "Children of the promise." Paul used this phrase in Galatians 4:28 to speak of the spiritual children of Abraham. But it's important to catch the context. The verse preceding quotes Isaiah 54:1—the prophetic promise of many children coming!

Friends, I hope you can see what I see in this. A move of revival is about to be birthed. God is getting ready to expand His family, bringing many more "children of promise" into the kingdom. And like the barren woman, we need to prepare.

I heard the Lord say, "Get ready for expansion and growth. Get ready for harvest!"

The Coming Wave of Glory

Since then, I've had many confirming dreams of this move of revival about to be birthed, and the necessity for those willing to steward it. In one dream I had a vision of a baby in the sky, and when I awoke I heard the Lord say that many more children are coming. Another dream revealed that revival is especially coming to Asia.

This move of revival will be accompanied by a wave of His glory bigger than any we've ever seen. Believers will be operating at a new level of power—raising the dead will be commonplace and ordinary. I heard the Lord say, "The second glory shall be greater than the first." (See Hag. 2:6-9.)

It's something I've talked about for years—this coming wave of glory. I've heard the Lord talk about it like this, even recently, that first comes the party—the regular glory as we know it so far. Then comes the "after party," which we might think of as the better party—a greater display of His glory than any we've yet seen.

The winds of change are blowing. We're in a transition period entering a new season—a season of acceleration. It's important that every single one of us prepares to participate in this "after party" move of His glory that will be an integral part of this new season.

An Invitation

The Lord recently brought to mind a prophetic dream I had many years ago—the only prophetic dream I ever had before becoming Spirit-filled.

Let me begin by saying I'm a mother of three sons. One of my sons died of SIDS at two months and is in heaven now, and my other sons are 27 and 32. So together with one daughter, I have a total of four children, all of whom my husband and I adopted from South Korea as babies.

The setting is that, at the point of this dream, I had two young children—my oldest son and daughter—and my husband and I had been considering whether to adopt a third baby. After deliberating, we decided that we would and began moving forward with the adoption process. This dream took place while we were waiting to be matched with this third child.

I was at Seattle-Tacoma airport waiting for the escort to bring me this baby. (We always went to Sea-Tac to get our children, who were flown from South Korea in the care of an escort.) As I waited, a woman escort walked up to me, but she was holding two babies instead of one. She looked at me and said, "You know, we have so many children that need homes. Would you take two babies, instead of just the one you were planning to take?"

Immediately, thoughts began flashing through my mind. My hands were already very full with the two children I had, and I knew that three would be a lot to handle. I wondered, Can I really care for four? (Meanwhile this other baby's right there, looking up at me.)

But in the dream, I said, "Yes, I will take both of these children." It's like I knew that I had to—a level of compassion stirred in my heart that compelled me to, even though I was unsure how I would manage the extra responsibility. Then I woke up.

Fast-forward one whole year. As events transpired, we were matched with a baby boy we named Dylan, but as I said, he died of SIDS at two months old before we were able to bring him home. After debating, we decided to move forward with the adoption process once again, and had already brought home my youngest son (the one now 27) before it hit me that the Lord had shown me ahead of time that I would actually have four children, rather than three.

But recently the Lord revealed a level of profound revelation and meaning contained in this dream that I had never seen before, which is that I believe God needed me to agree to having this fourth child. I didn't know what I was saying yes to, obviously, but He wanted me to choose.

He was essentially saying, "Would you like to have four children? Would you have room in your heart to do this—would you like to be a part of My plans to give this baby a family?"

God wanted me to participate, even though I didn't really comprehend what I was saying yes to.

I see a profound parallel between this dream and the revelation of many more children of promise coming. Essentially God's saying to us, "I have more children than I know what to do with. Do you have room in your heart to help care for these children—to steward the harvest with Me?"

Just like in my dream, you may not feel capable or even understand what you're saying yes to, but I sense God asking, "Will you partner with Me?"

The "New and Improved"

There's a level of exposure coming—things will be coming to the light of day. He's cleaning house—but in a good way (Luke 12:2-3, 1 Pet. 4:17). Every single one of us needs to be seeking the Lord to reveal if there's anything He would like to address.

He doesn't want anything cluttering up the flow of the Holy Spirit—He wants us ready to be used at the greatest level possible in this coming harvest.

Here are some suggestions to follow, and even the order is important.

– Tell the Lord you want to be used in this coming wave of glory. Say, "Yes, I will partner with You to help care for the many children coming." Tell Him you'll take some responsibility.

– Seek Him. Press into the Lord "until He comes and rains righteousness on you" (Hos. 10:12b).

– Ask the Lord to reveal anything you need to do to be made ready—ask Him if there is anything hidden that needs to be revealed (Ps. 139:23-24). God is speaking directly to people in this season. He's going deep. If you ask Him sincerely, He will respond.

The Lord wants you and me to be the “new and improved” you and me so that we’ll all be part of the new things He’s going to be doing.

I hear Him asking, “Who wants to be a vessel used to display the greater glory?” {eo}
