

Prophetic Dream: The Holy Spirit Is Lifting Restraints on Evil

The world is shifting, and now more than ever the Lord is on the move. As history unfolds before our eyes, those with spiritual discernment can see that we are living in prophetic times. In a recent message, Rabbi Kirt Schneider shared a prophetic dream that underscores the increasing turmoil gripping the planet. His vision speaks to the reality of global instability, moral decay, and an impending struggle that will test the endurance of humanity.

In the dream, Schneider found himself aboard a massive warship with hundreds of others, all weary from a grueling mission. The suffering was palpable—lives had been lost, and the journey had left its mark on everyone aboard. Just as relief seemed within reach, an officer entered his cabin and delivered a chilling message: “If you think that was hard, get ready. The next thing is going to be even harder.” This warning, he explained, is not just about personal struggle but a foreshadowing of what is unfolding in the world today.

A Time of Chaos and Evil

According to Schneider, chaos is the first front of evil. “Once the enemy can produce chaos, there’s nothing left in terms of strength and order to hold foundations together.” The breakdown of culture, morality, and institutions is opening the door for a more aggressive form of destruction. He pointed to Oct. 7, when Hamas militants attacked Israel in an act of “pure evil, pure hatred with no respect at all for humanity.”

Unlike past conflicts fought under the laws of war, today's violence targets civilians at concerts, shopping malls, and even schools. It is hatred for the sake of destruction.

Israel stands as a stark example of this growing instability. "We used to be optimistic," an Israeli shopkeeper told Schneider before the war erupted. "But we've tried so hard to find a way of peace with our neighbors, and nothing has worked." Now, surrounded by enemies, Israel faces existential threats from nations like Iran, which openly declares its intent to wipe the country off the map. "It's only a matter of time before one of our enemies is able to pull the trigger," the shopkeeper warned.

Fear and Uncertainty in America

The unease is not confined to the Middle East. Americans, too, are gripped by anxiety over their safety and the future of their country. Schneider referenced alarming statistics that reveal just how deeply these fears run:

- 7 out of 10 Americans worry about keeping their families safe at night.
- A third of Americans fear a total economic collapse.
- 76% of Americans expect a massive global conflict involving the world's superpowers within the next 25 years.

The economic outlook is equally bleak. Government spending is out of control, bureaucracy has become an unstoppable machine, and the very institutions meant to serve the people are instead draining resources. "It's monstrous. And no one can rein it back in," Schneider lamented, describing a system where employees are encouraged to waste taxpayer money to maintain their department budgets. This reckless approach is driving the nation toward financial disaster, yet those in power refuse to change course because doing so would require personal sacrifice.

The Antichrist and the Collapse of Moral Order

Schneider also warned of a deeper, spiritual war at play. He cited Scripture, explaining that the presence of God, which has long restrained evil, is now beginning to lift. “He that restrains will no longer restrain,” Schneider quoted from 2 Thessalonians 2:7, referring to the Holy Spirit’s diminishing role in holding back darkness. As morality erodes and deception spreads, society is creating the perfect conditions for the rise of the Antichrist.

“The world would become so desperate and so deluded and so deceived and so morally bankrupt that they would put their faith in the anti-Messiah, the Antichrist,” he warned. Evil is not just an abstract concept—it is intelligent, intentional, and actively working through both human agents and demonic forces to dismantle the foundations of civilization.

We Need Strength and Awareness

Despite the dark times ahead, Schneider emphasized that believers must not turn a blind eye. Many refuse to confront the harsh realities of the present day, choosing instead to hide behind comfortable distractions. But this is not the time for denial. “This is not a time for fluff, this is a time for the truth. And we need, beloved, strong medicine.”

Jesus himself proclaimed in Revelation 1:3 “Blessed is he who reads and those who hear the words of this prophecy and keep those things which are written in it, for the time is near.” Schneider echoed this sentiment, declaring that believers must “wake up” and live as soldiers, prepared to stand firm in faith as the world teeters on the edge of unprecedented trials.

The message of Rabbi Schneider’s dream clearly shows harder days are coming, but the Lord is moving in the midst of it all. Evil is on the rise, but faith, vigilance and the wisdom found in Scripture will be the keys to overcoming what lies ahead.
