

Prophetic Warning: The Next Major Move by China is Coming

Is God speaking about China's next big move?

In a word of warning, prophetic voice Troy Black gave some insight into what China may be up to next.

"I started to see a vision back on May 23 of a mountainous area and next to the mountains was this line of power generators and they looked like these big machines that were moving up and down," Black shares. "Then, I got this knowledge that what I'm seeing now is a metaphor."

With this discussion of wars and rumors of wars, China as a powerhouse in the world fits directly into this vision.

"I heard the Lord say, 'China's next move is to wipe out a power grid,' Black prophesies. "I don't know if God is saying that China is going to physically wipe something out, right, but more likely it's something involving China putting pressure on another nation or utilizing backdoor tactics in order to affect a power grid or somebody's power source."

As a world giant, Black says that this could even mean China will pressure another nation through different tactics, potentially affecting their power source.

"I heard the Lord say, 'China is wrapping their arms around a smaller nation in hopes of picking it the way you would pick a pear off a tree. You suck its life from it by breaking the connection from the roots.' And then I heard, 'Without the stem, intact, it can no longer receive anything through the tree.'"

Just as China may be working to squeeze another nation, Black says the Chinese New Year itself is also going to come into play in the coming days.

Regarding next year's Chinese New Year, Black says he had a vision of a Chinese street sign with a person standing in the street and the city decorated for a festival.

"I heard the Lord say, 'It will happen as if nothing is going on around because they will be ignoring what's happening around them at the time,'" Black prophesies. "These things are going to be happening around, but it's not going to affect the Chinese society as a whole."

The timing of these prophetic visions and words comes during a year that was prophesied as a year all about the Chinese dragon. This year is also the Chinese calendar year of the dragon.

"In the Bible, Satan is referred to as a dragon in the book of Revelation," Todd Coconato posted on Facebook when New York City celebrated the show "House of the Dragon."

Rabbi Jonathan Cahn also warned about the dragon as mentioned in the book of Revelation.

"The one who wars against the sar paras, Michael, is now warring against the dragon and his angels," Cahn says in a recent video.

How ever China will tie into these new and ongoing prophetic signs still remains to be seen.
