Learn From King David About Embracing Your Identity

When David went on his first assignment to kill Goliath, he did not identify as the king of Israel, even though he was anointed as such. His mindset when he faced Goliath was, "My God can do this." David's faith in God killed Goliath.

In the next season, Israel came together and anointed him as king over all the land of Israel. It was then that his identity changed, and he identified as a king and priest.

Though he was anointed as king as a young boy, he never identified as royalty until that call from Israel. In the fourth dimension, he was king, but he only embraced the mindset to make decisions from that identity once there was a call to become that king.

Is This Where You Are?

That's where many of you are today. You struggle because you are anointed; you received a prophetic word five, 10 or even 15 years ago. You received mantles.

Some of you need to recall what you were anointed for. When you go into the spirit and open that 4D vault, you will see there is no decay because there is no time, so those words and anointing you received in previous seasons are still new.

God deals in the fourth dimension, outside of time and space. This can be difficult for us because when we hear a word, believe it and walk in obedience, it appears nothing is happening.
